DR. STILES ON "FLIES"

Instructive Addresses Before Gathering at Summer School.

Charlottesville, Va., July 14.-The two great movements for which the be most remembered in time to com-are the twin policies of "conservation" be most remembered in time to conare the twin policies of "conservation" and "country life." Colonel Rooseveli has already signified his intention to speak before the Conservation Congress in St. Paul in September, and this will set this great movement under way at full head. The co-ordinate policy of country life improvement has not yet taken full hold of the public imagination, but Dr. L. H. Balley, president of the Rural Life Commission, stated in his address before the Virginia Rural Life Conference, now being held at the University of Virginia Summer School, that Mr. Roosevelt had bromised him yesterday to speak ing held at the University of Virginia Summer School, that Mr. Roosevelt had promised him yesterday to speak before a National Country Life Conference. This conference is to be held late in the fall or early in the winter, at some place yet to be determined, and it will set forth a definite line of activities as important as those of the conservation movement. Thus will these two great social policies, proceeding as spontaneous and voluntary public movements, be set into full operation.

Address on "Files."

Address on "Flies."

Dr. C. W. Stiles, of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, spoke at 11:30 o'clock this morning on the subject or "Flies." He said in part that the number of files found in any given locality or in any given household was in general an index of the cleanliness of the surroundings. Comparing the American nation with other civilized nations of the world, he maintained that Americans are as a nation dirtier than any other civilized nation with which he has come into close contact. This lack of cleanliness is evident from one end of the country to the other. In matters of public and private sanitation, and especially in the rural districts, the nation is one-half a century behind the times.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session of the conference opened at 5 o'clock with an address by Dr. Allen W. Freeman, Assistant Health Commissioner, on "Typhoid Fever in Country Districts." T. O. Sandy, State agent of demonstration work, followed with an instructive talk on how to improve and make money on a fifty-acre farm. Mrs. Edith Charlton Salisbury, of the extension department, Iowa State College, spoke or "Practicul Results in Cooking and Sewing," and Professor B. H. Crocheron, principal of the Agricultural High School, Philopolis, Md., closed the session with an address on "Community Work of the One-Teacher Rural School."

Governor William Hodges Mann, who will address the conference at noon the sorted private baths; elevant of the world and proving the form of the service; elegant by the service elegant Address on "Flies."

Governor William Hodges Mann, who will address the conference at noon to-morrow on "Good Roads and the Rurai Uplift," reached Charlottesville at 9:30 to-night and went at once to the university, where he is the guest of the Colonnade Club.

New Road Commissioners Prevented
From Qualifying in Bristol.

Especial to The Times-Dispatch |
Bristol, Va., July 14.—Charging factional politics and collusion on the part of leaders of the Governor Patterson faction of Democracy and road contractors to get control of the expenditure of $290,000 recently appropriated for road construction in Sullivan county and Tennessee Bristol, Colonel Samue; L. King and other prominent Bristolians to-day filed a bill to restrain the new road commissioners from qualifyins. Chancellor Haynes granted a flat which rules the new commission out for the present, leaving the road work in the hands of the county court. It is averred that there was no cause for the change, and that the county would have little show for protection if the engineer in charge should be dictated to by the contractors.
